L2 Writing Bibliography: Hong Kong, China, and other Asian Countries
(July 2007)

This bibliography is an outcome of a project “Bibliography on second language writing in Hong Kong, China and Asia” funded by the HKU Constituent Theme “Languages, Media and Communication; Language in Education and Assessment”. The Constituent Theme would like to thank Ms Lu Lu for compiling the bibliography and the version with annotations, and Dr Icy Lee for her advice.

The list in this file is organized alphabetically by author.

Lee, J. (2006). Subjunctive were and indicative was: A corpus analysis for English language teachers and textbook writers. Language Teaching Research, 10(1), 80-93.

Ma, K.-c. (1993). Classroom concordancing: what and how students learn. City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong.

Thongrin, S. (2002). E-mail peer response in collectivist Thai culture: Task, social and cultural dimensions. Dissertation Abstracts International, 63(9), 3176A.

output-based approach for Hong Kong secondary students. Unpublished doctoral dissertation, City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong.

